Hungarian Youth Recalls Budapest Street Fighting

By AL LE ANCE

Picture a Russian tank lumbering down Palm Canyon Drive, stalking live game for its smoking guns.

Then watch a high school student who suddenly darts from a shell-blasted building, hurls a gasoline-filled bottle, and dashes off as the tank bursts into flames.

That's a pretty macabre picture to visualize in this easy-going vacationland; but it was a living scene viewed more than once through the pale blue eyes of 17-year-old Aurel Csaba Andrassy.

AUREL, WHOSE thin, stubby frame still shows the signs of a nightmaric experience, arrived in Palm Springs yesterday as the first refugee from revolt-torn Hungary to reach the resort area.

The youngest member of a family of five, Aurel is today beginning a new life at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Ethel Kohurt, of 440 North El Segundo.

But it'll be a long time before he forgets when, as leader of a group of 70 young students, he watched his comrades cut down by machine guns as they fought Soviet tank gunners with little more than bottles and bravery.

"SEVEN I KNOW are dead," he said in Hungarian, interpreted by his aunt, "The rest" . . . he shrugged his shoulders, then spoke in rapid-fire Hungarian.

"He says the rest scattered and disappeared," his aunt interjected. "He doesn't know what happened to them."

Aurel ended his high school days when the first sounds of revolt echoed through the streets of Budapest. The students met in the school auditorium, and Hungarian soldiers passed out a small assortment of guns and grenades.

COACHED BY "some big officers" on how to use their guns, the youngsters split into groups, each headed by a leader such as Aurel.

"We threw bottles full of gasoline at the tanks from windows and the street," he recounted. "Then we fired at the soldiers." Up to that point, the "deadliest" thing ever handled by the pale-skinned youth was a French horn. "I was a musician in the Budapest opera," he said proudly. "I was a student of piano and the horn."

BUT THE SOUND of his French horn was lost in the wail of a siren mounted on a truck commandeered by the young Freedom fighters. The truck was used to hunt down Soviet patrols. "They would throw down their guns and run when they heard the sirens," he recalled with a laugh. "They were afraid of the students. They were afraid to walk alone."

Cold Continues Siege Across East, Midwest

By UNITED PRESS

Winter's bitterest weather maintained its devastating siege across the eastern half of the nation today, claiming an ever mounting toll of lives.

In the East, residents from New England to the mid-Atlantic states dug out from the worst snowstorm of the winter.

The storm Wednesday, borne on icy winds, dumped up to 8 inches of snow in Virginia and a foot or more in sections of New England.

A BELOW ZERO cold wave gripped the nation's midlands overnight, but weathermen promised a brief "warmup" was on its way from all places, Canada.

Forecasters said cold air drained from Canada is being replaced with warmer Pacific air that will boost temperatures from below zero into the 20s in the Midwest. However, they warned a fresh onslaught of cold air is expected to invade the area by Friday.

A UNITED PRESS count showed at least 51 deaths blamed on the weather since the start of the cold wave Monday.

The snow storm snarled transportation in the populous East and authorities warned motorists that driving conditions remained "very miserable" today.

Registration Set For Sewer Bond Election March 19

Palm Springs voters were reminded today that if they wish to vote at the city's sewer bond election, tentatively set for March 19, they only have seven days in which to register or re-register.

Final registration date is Thursday, Jan. 24.

In order to be eligible to register, a person must have been a resident of the state for one year, of the county for 90 days, and of the precinct in which residence is claimed for 34 days, before the election date.

Desert Circus Theme Sought

Any original Desert Circus ideas? The Desert Circus Association is seeking a theme for this year's event March 27 through 31, and is asking the aid of desert area residents.

Anyone having a theme idea is asked to send it to The Desert Sun, P. O. Box 190, prior to Tuesday, Jan. 22. The Circus group plans to select the theme at its meeting the following evening at El Mirador Hotel.

CC Area Group Opposes Telephone Rate Increase

Increased telephone rates, off-street parking and aid to the Community Chest, were the major problems discussed yesterday at the bi-weekly meeting at Cisco's Restaurant in Trancview.

The proposed telephone rate increase met with the suggestion from Orvil Zappe that those present go on record as individuals or as an organization, against the stated increase until better service be offered by California Water and Telephone company.

INCREASE INSTANCES WERE cited by members of the Association of the "faculty service" and maintenance despite a slight improvement at times" and a committee was appointed to write a letter to the public utilities commission stating that the Asso. wishes to go on record as opposed to any increase in rates at the present time.

The problem of off-street parking in Cathedral City was stressed as a dire need of the future, with association members urged to keep it in mind and encourage Riverside County Supervisors to take affirmative action.

IN OTHER TOWNS, equal in size and population to Cathedral City, it was stated, real estate values have dropped and development has often reached a standstill because new shopping centers or housing projects were deemed impractical due to lack of public parking facilities.

State Legislature to Face Decision On Abolition of Capital Punishment

SACRAMENTO — The Legislature was given a chance today to decide whether it wants to abolish capital punishment, declare a five-year moratorium on death sentences or leave it up to juries to specify life or death.

Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan (D-Los Angeles) introduced a series of bills on capital punishment giving the Legislature three alternatives. The bills were assigned to the lower house's Judiciary Committee where they will be given a public hearing after the February recess.

McMILLAN ADMITTED that the issue was a difficult one to decide and that there is a "wide cleavage of opinion" among legislators, judges, district attorneys, sheriffs, professors, lawyers and clergymen over the death penalty.

He quoted Director of Corrections Richard A. McGee and Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown as two high ranking state officials who favor at least a moratorium on the death penalty.

OUTRIGHT ABOLITION, said the assemblyman, would be "in line with the policies of most of the countries of western civilization." But he admitted it was a "venturesome" proposal of his colleagues this year.

"A less venturesome proposal is for a moratorium for a period of years on application of the death penalty," he said.

WITH ONLY THE eight or nine executions that take place each year, such a proposal involves no risk. If for any reason the experiment proves "otherwise, capital punishment can be restored."

The assemblyman said a third alternative proposal by his legislation would be to retain the death penalty but change the law to require juries affirmatively to fix the penalty in capital cases, whether life or death.

ent at the school—that of curbing smokers.

The Letterman Club has undertaken a campaign to control and catch offenders, especially after vandals damaged one of the boy's restrooms by lighting paper on the floor and tearing towel and soap dispensers off the wall.

SUSPENSIONS HAVE climbed this past week, when club members caught six students smoking, and Wayland Reynolds nabbed 12 behind the school gymnasium. Six were suspended for two weeks for leaving the school grounds "to get lunch," but administrators believe they actually left to have a cigarette.

Dr. Wallace R. Muelder, making an inspection tour of the school, walked into a boy's rest room and came upon a youth smoking. The youth did not know who he was. The boy now has plenty of time to find out Dr. Muelder's identity, as he was immediately suspended from school.

The Junior High School uses the same cafeteria facilities as the High school, and feeds some 350 students, and according to Principal Warren Linville, no complaints have been voiced from his students concerning the food or the service.

Alexander, Taken Into Custody on Check Charges

Graham Alexander, 41-year-old Palm Springs radio announcer, was arrested by Palm Springs police last night on charges of passing fictitious checks.

According to Detective Sgt. John Herrera, who is in charge of the case, Alexander checked out of a local hotel, paying his bill with a check drawn on a local bank for $133.40. A second check was found today made to the Superior Optical company, for $15 in payment of two pairs of glasses. Alexander has no account at the bank, according to investigators.

Lt. Bob Wilts, chief of investigation for the department, said that in Alexander's possession was a check made out to cash for $100 that he reportedly attempted to pass at the Desert Inn.

In Alexander's convertible, police found more than $50 worth of property reportedly taken from the Desert Inn. Among the items were towels, a bath mat, waste baskets, a table lamp, a card table, a candle light, and a silver creamer. No theft charges have been filed, but Sgt. Herrera this morning is continuing his investigation.

Alexander will be arraigned before Judicial District Judge Eugene Theriault today if the investigation is completed.

THE WILDER BROTHERS, whose histrionics in music have carried them through the top night spots of the nation, open at Palm Springs' Palm House Friday night. As a singing trio, the Wilders take top reviews for their renditions of "Three Coins in the Fountain," and their own "I Don't Know." As musicians, the Wilders pilot their three saxophones through a full gamut of popular and novelty tunes, all sparked with the Wilder personality.

Wilder Brothers Open Friday At Palm House

The Wilder Brothers, whose musical capers have carried them through the nation's top night spots, open Friday night at the Palm Springs Palm House.

Fresh from the Copacabana in New York, as well as such television shows as Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town," the Wilders feature a fast-paced dishing out the best in vocal and instrumental music.

Armed with three glittering saxophones, the trio that broke into show business with Shirley Temple in her screen days presents a fresh slant on popular tunes sparked with zany antics and original arrangements.

As a vocal group, the Wilders are well known for their recordings on RCA Victor's "X" labels.

Also featured in the New Palm House is lovely acrobatic dancer "Suzette."

Safe in a refugee camp, Aurel immediately wrote to his aunt here, and arrangements were made through the Red Cross and the National Catholic Welfare Conference to bring the youth here.

Four weeks later he was on a ship bound for the United States with hundreds of his compatriots. A few more weeks orientation at Camp Kilmer, N. J., and Aurel was watching the American landscape slide by a train window.

"It's so big," he said, spreading his arms. "This country it's wonderful."

AUREL'S AUNT said the youth was unable to comprehend everything he's seen on his trip through the United States.

"But he loves the cars, the autos, I mean," his aunt remarked. "He wants to buy one," she added, casting a fond look at her nephew. "but I'm afraid it will be a long time before he earns the money."

Aurel, she explained, is still thinking of his family—two brothers, his mother and father—but he's rapidly adjusting to his new way of life.

HUNGARIAN HERO

After six weeks of street fighting, Aurel and a few comrades stole aboard a train bound for a Budapest suburb. They had agreed to seek refuge in Vienna because "60,000 dead was enough."

THE TRACKS RAN out several miles from Budapest. After that it was a long night march to Vienna.

Tension Rises in Poland On Eve of 'Free Election'

Editor's Note: United Press Staff Correspondent Anthony J. Cavendish covered the October upheaval that brought Wladyslaw Gomulka to power in Poland. He then flew to Hungary, walking the last five miles to Budapest to cover the Hungarian rebellion. Back in Warsaw, he tells what is at stake in Sunday's Polish elections.)

WARSAW, Poland — Tension is rising in Poland on the eve of its first "free election" since the war.

Anti-Communist incidents have been reported in many major cities. There has been some violence including one reported lynching. Groups in several parts of the country have threatened to boycott the voting.

But the Communists cannot lose this election. The setup is so rigged that the Communists are guaranteed 52 per cent of the vote.

THE REAL SHOWDOWN is between the diehard Stalinists of the "tough" school of Communism and the "liberal" Communism of Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Western observers fear that if the Stalinists replace Gomulka as a result of the election, Poland might become Hungary all over again.

Gomulka, the bald Communist party secretary, is popular and Poland does not wish to go the way of Hungary. But very many Poles are bitterly anti-Communist and will have a chance to show it Sunday.

THIS ANTI-COMMUNISM and the outbreak of incidents could play into the hands of the "tough" Stalinist Communists who want to suppress opposition to the regime. The results are expected to make or break Gomulka, the "Titoist" who came out of a Communist prison to lead the Polish people to their first taste of freedom since the German invasion of 1939.

Observers believe Gomulka must get much more than the 52 per cent the Communist party is guaranteed if this is to be considered a true vote of confidence in him. If he fails to get a solid majority—and it is a question whether he will—the Stalinist wing of the party could say, "We told you so" and try to oust Gomulka in a coup.

The Stalinists—and the Russians—are just waiting for Gomulka to make a mistake.

GOMULKA IS fighting something over which he has little control—Poland's disastrous economic situation. He needs economic aid quickly, from Moscow or the West. Compulsory wheat deliveries have irritated peasants. Workers' pay is low. Some factories are using machines bought from Britain in 1938.

World Today Paid Tribute To The Maestro

NEW YORK — The world paid mournful tribute today to the Maestro.

Arturo Toscanini died in his sleep Wednesday morning at his home, the Villa Pauline, in the Riverdale section of the Bronx. The world-famous conductor's body will lie in state until Saturday when a Solemn Requiem Mass will be offered for him at St. Patrick's Cathedral. He will be flown to Malin, Italy, for burial.

HEADS OF STATE and leaders in the music world expressed their sorrow at the death of the tailor's son who became a symbol of music during a career that spanned more than half a century.

President Eisenhower expressed his deep regret at the death of the Maestro. In a statement, Mr. Eisenhower said:

"I HAVE EARNED with deep regret of the death of Arturo Toscanini. As man and as musician he gained the admiration of the world. He spoke in the universal language of music but he also spoke in the language of free men everywhere. The music he created and the hatred of tyranny that was his, are part of the legacy of our time."

The Maestro was mourned from the La Scala Opera House in Milan, the scene of his greatest early triumphs, to New York, where Toscanini put down his baton for the last time three years ago.

The Italian flag was lowered to half staff at the La Scala Opera House and the orchestra stopped its rehearsal for one minute of silent tribute.

County Board Starts Meeting Heads of Staff

Preliminary to establishment of an organization for consideration of departmental problems, the board of supervisors met this week with department heads. Only seven of the thirty-three department heads were not present and they all had good excuses for their absence.

Supervisor Paul Anderson was named chairman of the new organization for which as yet no name has been chosen. A steering committee of three was named to plan agendas for the meetings which are to be held at 9 a. m. on the second Friday of each month. The three are Gordon Pequegnat, chosen by the elected department heads, John E. McIntyre the choice of appointed department heads, and Administrative Officer Clay Begole. Anderson will serve as an ex officio member.

The steering committee's chore will be to plan agendas of general interest to all county officials. No minor matters are to be considered. The first meeting will be held Feb. 8, from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m.

THE DESERT CLUB at La Quinta has proven so popular it was necessary to increase guest-room accommodations for the members on the Club grounds. Architect-ture is "Desert Moderne" and consists of luxurious bedrooms and suites finished in soft desert tones. These accommodations will be completed and available to members and their guests on Feb. 14 for the Valentine Party immediately followed by the opening of the Indian Festival Fair.

Charles Muller Arrives at New Zealand Port

Charles F. Muller, damage controlman fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Muller of 221 Via Colusa, arrived at Port Lyttelton, New Zealand, Saturday aboard the seaplane tender USS Curtiss.

The Curtiss is transporting scientists, relief wintering-over personnel and technicians to American outposts on the Antarctic Continent as part of "Operation Deepfreeze II."

Deepfreeze is a four-year program of Naval support for American scientists in the Antarctic. These scientists while wintering-over will make earth science studies during the International Geophysical Year 1957-58.

Port Lyttelton was the first stop for the Curtiss on her long trip south.

School Receives Deed for Land

A deed for the school site on Section 14 was received by the Palm Springs Unified School District this morning from the Bureau of Land Management in Washington, D.C. Dr. Wallace R. Muelder, superintendent of schools, reported today.

The 10-acre site cost the school district $40,000, and is located just south of the McCallum Way extension and west of Sunrise way.

Number of radio sets increased twice as fast from 1950-1955 as it did from 1945-50.

LIBRARY NOTES

By LYKE SMITH

With news of unbelievably resolute Hungarians and stubborn Poles filling the newspapers and astonishing us all, there are four recent books that are conspicuously timely.

The most entertaining of these is Truman Capote's THE MUSES ARE AHEAD, an account of the ninety-four Americans and two dogs that traveled by train from East Berlin to Leningrad where the opera "Porgy and Bess" had its Russian premiere. It covers eight days in time, a great many of the American personnel and a number of Russians in bitter, biting sketches.

Capote is as nasty about his fellow Americans as about his Russian experiences; so skeptical of the obvious success of the opera that his entire report is suspect.

Nevertheless it is good reading. No one is likely to forget the blind Russian drunkard who impersonates Christ by hanging his head and letting beer drip from an empty socket.

WILLIAM O. DOUGLAS has recently published one of his thoroughgoing conscientious travel books, in style and format much like the accounts of his earlier journeys in little known parts of the world. RUSSIAN JOURNEY begins with the southern part of the U.S.S.R., Russia's colonial empire.

These wild, agriculturally rich states were conquered by the Czar during the last century, and here the Communist program of collectivization met violent resistance from people who have never considered themselves "Russian."

Justice Douglas traveled as well through industrialized Russia and through the steppes of Soviet Asia, and gives a discerning and unprejudiced report of what he saw and learned about the country and its people. It is an absorbing book, especially timely now.

and its people. It is an absorbing book, especially timely now.

FIRST PRINTED in 1951, Margaret Mead's SOVIET ATTITUDES TOWARD AUTHORITY was recently re-printed. It is a fairly technical social-anthropological report, originally a research study under the Rand Corporation, a non-profit organization chartered "to further and promote scientific, educational, and charitable purposes, all for the public welfare and security of the United States of America." It is not light nor easy reading, though it is more free of double talk than most social science works.

In lieu of impossible direct research, Dr. Mead and her group followed patterns set up during World War II for studying inaccessible countries. An intensive study was made of newspapers, movies, professional journals and interviews. The basic research was done in the Russian language. Keeping in mind the traditional Russian attitude toward authority as it was during the Czars, the authors attempt to show how the character of the modern Soviet man is changing.

C. L. SULZBERGER'S THE BIG THAW is the fourth and last of the current books on Russia that might prove valuable to the reader right now. The book is derived mainly from his "Foreign Affairs" column in the New York Times. He is, of course, constantly on the move collecting material for his column, and his most recent trip through Russia was completed only a few months before publication of this book.

He himself says that "new and unforeseeable events may erupt before these pages are published," and they have. Nevertheless, Mr. Sulzberger does give the reader a greater understanding of the enigma of our time—the Soviet empire.

Offices Rented In Indio for DA

The county supervisors have authorized execution of a lease of three rooms in the Mead Building in Indio for use as offices for the district attorney, for a period of three months, from February through June at a rental fee of $85.

Administrative Officer Clay Begole recommended the lease. He said that proposed alterations in the county building at Indio would crowd the present occupants, would cost approximately $1,500 and do not appear feasible.

Alexander Hamilton, his father and his 19-year-old son all were killed in duels.

Crop Dusting Permit Okehed

In accordance with a planning commission recommendation, the county supervisors voted this week to grant an M-3 permit to Noel A. Sharp of Thermal to operate a private air strip for crop dusting purposes on property located southwest of the Coachella Valley flood control channel north of 52nd Avenue, one-half mile east of Tyler Street and approximately 3100 feet east of the city limits of Coachella.

The permit will lapse in one year when its renewal may be considered.

The Hudson River is 306 miles long.

Palm Desert Volunteer Fire Groups Seeks Contributions

President Bob Sturgeon of the Palm Desert Fire Department today called on all residents of the area served by the organization to support a current fund raising drive by mailing contributions to the volunteers at Post Office Box 2, Palm Desert.

Sturgeon said that to date $205.70 has been received in the drive and that contributions are coming in very slowly. Next meeting of the organization is set for 7 p. m., Monday Jan. 28. Visitors and potential members are invited to attend.

Greatest thing that ever happened to the Century

The fabulous new Buick CENTURY Caballero

YOU'VE SEEN many improvements in wagons these past 5 years. But, to use a vivid expression, "You ain't seen nothing yet!"

For now comes a new kind of wagon called the Caballero.

It's the lowest and the sleekest wagon you ever saw—and the most practical wagon ever built by Buick.

You get up to 8 1/2 feet of level deck for "long" freight—wider-opening rear gates top and bottom for easier loading—a panoramic rear window for safer parking. Even your rear-seat passengers get a view unmarred by center posts.

But beyond all that, this one's a '57 Buick CENTURY through and through.

So you ride with buoyant new roadability—from a new chassis that "nests" the body to a record low center of gravity.

You guide with a new and surer handling, stop on the level even when you have to brake hard, travel with the satisfying security of Buick brawn, solidity, rock-firm steadiness.

Above all, you command with a new ginger here—with a quicker and surer power response that stems from an all-new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine with 10 to 1 compression.

And sparking this great power is a new advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that gives you such instant full-torque obedience in "Drive"—it practically eliminates your need for "Low."

The stunning new Caballero—the '57 Buick CENTURY Estate Wagon illustrated here—can be yours at a price surprisingly easy to take.

Or you can have a similar body style in Buick's even lower-priced SPECIAL Series. Drop in and see us—today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

U.S. GETS LITTLE THANKS FOR FOREIGN AID

Typical of the many reports we get from Americans who have been traveling in Europe is the comment in a recent letter from another observer. "I found Europeans reluctant to give any credit to the U.S. for its foreign aid and good intentions," says the writer. "Perhaps we've helped them in the wrong way. Maybe we have not saved their pride by allowing them to give a fair return in items of trade."

In West Germany the writer said that "one could feel the rising tide of nationalism, pride in the past glories of war and conquest, and hopes to rise again to be a world power. I was inclined to feel 'Why don't we mind our own business and let them work out their own destiny . . . as long as they keep it on their own continent?' It may be that this is the only way it can be done. Of course it is wrong to expect gratitude for the aid we've given and yet it would be nice to have it even slightly acknowledged."

Almost everyone we have talked to after a trip through Europe reports the same attitude; citizens of most of the nations which have received U.S. aid are downright unappreciative—or even hostile.

Objectives Are Good

Every American is aware that President Eisenhower and other national leaders believe that foreign aid is necessary to keep the Reds from capturing more nations—and to help insure peace. The American officials are dealing with the heads of other governments—not the people in those nations—the top men who can sway their people one way or another. No one can really say just what results have been obtained, but most Americans believe it has helped—perhaps prevented the outbreak of another war.

But foreign aid—like so many other governmental policies and projects—can easily get out of hand. Maybe that is what has happened. It began with Lend-Lease; helping the nations fighting on our side. That was a good security investment. This was followed by UNRRA which was a very worthwhile method of helping our allies who had suffered so much more from war than we had.

The next giveaway project was the famous—and somewhat unpopular—Marshall Plan. When support lagged, the Point Four program was adopted with the very sound objective of assisting underdeveloped countries with technical know-how. After that the United States plunged into foreign aid that mounted into billions—and still more for military aid.

The latest plan is for long-range commitments—so it looks like foreign aid is going to be with us for a long time. There is no end in sight. Meanwhile, Americans are contributing much of their earnings and profits to support foreign aid spending.

Many of us are wondering where all this spending to insure the peace is going to lead us.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

The 'Do Something' Philosophy

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Satan finds work for idle hands to do, and maybe that's what we get for having these long Christmas-New Year's holidays. Secretary Dulles appears to have thought up the new Middle East policy and sold it over the holidays to the President, who sprung it on a fresh-from-vacation Congress.

From the off-record briefings which the Secretary of State holds for policy-making newspapermen, two very revealing phrases emerged. Both relate to the theme of idleness. The new policy was presented as a chance for the Administration to "DO SOMETHING." And the same policy was recommended by one of those anonymous White House spokesmen as a chance for the United States to "prove" that it had not lapsed into "pacifism."

TWO WORSE REASONS for an American foreign policy can't be imagined. The busybody philosophy of "DO SOMETHING!" could fittingly be engraved on the tombstones of mediocres the world over, man and nation alike. As for the need to prove that the globe-girdling military might of the United States does not stand for "pacifism," it makes you wonder if lunacy tests aren't even more important to American security than loyalty tests.

No traitor in our history ever did the damage that our pokers and pryers have done. "Happier that State," goes a maxim dated back to 1622 by the Oxford University Dictionary, "wherein the cobbler meddles with his last." If only Mr. Dulles, a corporation lawyer, had meddled in nothing but legal briefs!

LISTENING to Mr. Dulles recently before the House Foreign Affairs committee, I go wondering if his great skill of advocacy doesn't actually constitute a national disaster. Congressmen are the nicest fellows you'll ever meet, but they aren't, as a class, nimble-witted and strong on the verbal counterpunch. The wisdom of Congressmen is considerable, and as a whole they have distrusted the swelling schemes of globalism which Secretaries Acheson and Dulles have been bringing to Capitol Hill for over a decade.

The trouble is that the Congressmen never quite knew how to put their disapproval in words to match those of the big league lawyers. Year after year, the House will cut a billion dollars or so (as happened last session) from the foreign and appropriations. But the House never wins the argument with the State Department because the personalities are unequally matched in the arts of advocacy.

FOR EXAMPLE, Rep. Jim Fulton (R.) of Pittsburgh asked the Secretary where there was any real difference between power politics by the United States in the Middle East and power politics by the British Empire. It was a poisoned arrow question, but Mr. Dulles expertly plucked it from the air and pitched it back at Jim Fulton with a wicked twist. Wasn't there a difference, the Secretary demanded, between the Egyptians getting bombed by the British and the Egyptians being protected from Russian bombing by us?

It was a clever riposte, and it left the Congressman floundering ridiculously before a host of reporters and cameramen. But the basic question was still unanswered. Wasn't the proposed American policy for the Middle East a play in power politics?

THE ANSWER was available in the affirmative if you followed the Secretary's testimony closely. A three-point program, he said, was needed to "fill the power vacuum" in the Middle East; that is, to aid the Middle East in filling the vacuum themselves:

1. Military guarantee of status quo so that no Middle East Government need fear having to face Russian aggression alone.
2. Money to meet what Mr. Dulles called the "payroll" of internal security forces. In brief, the U. S. will pay the cops and secret police for Nasser and other Middle East dictators, just so they resist Communism.
3. Economic assistance to match the Communist promises of Utopia.

THIS THREE-POINT program, winnowed down from thousands of Administration words of explanation, is a simple and understandable statement of the Eisenhower Doctrine. It is readily defensible as a program, but only if you concede a need to "DO SOMETHING!" The program really makes a lot of sense if you feel any dire necessity to "prove" that this fighting nation, with its gigantic military commitments in 40-some security pacts, its far-flung bases for Navy and Air Force assault with thermonuclear weapons, is not sunk in "pacifism."

But in all solemnity, unless you grant this compulsion to meddle, how can you justify this policy? It is additional, but not new. Far from soothing Britain, France, Russia, India, Egypt, Syria and all the rest, it has stirred them to confusion and alarm at the very time they were calming down from the Suez crisis.

There's almost no chance that Congress will reject this Eisenhower Doctrine. The argument is that we must show "the world" that Americans all think alike on foreign affairs. But I'm not so sure it doesn't prove something else entirely. Do we think at all? Or do we let "DO SOMETHING!" busybodies think for us?

On Litterbugs
Hear many hints.
The latest is.
Use fingerprints.

Bob Romatko is responsible for this idea. But I detected an ulterior motive in his proposal on how to trap those who line our highways and byways with beer cans and bottles. More of that later.

Romatko's idea is to use fingerprints to bring the people who use the roadsides as trash baskets, to justice.

"FINGER PRINT them on the cans or bottles," he said. "Then anyone investigating the trash can trace the culprit."

Of course, I have an idea on that, too. I'll start a shop exclusively to sell gloves. Great possibility there.

There are possibilities in that fingerprint idea. The flatheads who throw litter from automobiles, have to have a driver's license to be at the wheel of an auto. And most of them have their prints on record with the motor vehicle department, don't they?

ANOTHER GOOD suggestion was to make a game out of it. This idea is to put containers with wide mouths at stated intervals along the highway with appropriate signs telling motorists to get ready, a few hundred feet in advance of the spot where the cans are located.

And at the cans—
Try your aim. Score yourself five points if the trash goes in the barrel. Deduct eight points if you miss. These points can be made up by stopping and picking up the trash.

At one cent a point, it could be more fun than one buck a hole in the golf course.

If Sheriff Joe Rice is listening, I don't say it.

PALM SPRINGS did it again. Came up with the unusual. During the recent spell of inclement weather, rain, that is, police received a report that a swimming pool had been flooded. The water was not only in the pool but six inches over it—all over the yard.

And a fellow lamented to me the other night thus:

"Here I went out on a limb and bought my wife the biggest and most modern refrigerator I could find for Christmas. And you know what?"

"The monthly payments keep me so broke I can't buy food to put into it."

INEZ ROBB: Predicts Best Seller

Alger Hiss's long-anticipated apology, the son-to-be published "The Court of Public Opinion," is not an autobiography. It will deal with his trial and conviction of perjury in a case riddled with charges of Communist infiltration in high quarters by the Federal government.

The book, to be issued in the Spring by Alfred A. Knopf, Publishers, has a fascinating publishing history. Hiss was peddling the book, yet unwritten, even before he went to Federal prison (for 44 months) in 1951.

Oddly enough, an English publishing firm, John Calder of London, bought the book, after Hiss's release from prison in November, 1954, and assured it publication ahead of Hiss was able to sell it to an American publisher.

CALDER, ON THE basis of the first few chapters of the book, written after Hiss came out of prison, was willing to buy it, and subsequently made a large advance payment to him, after at least two American firms rejected the project.

"This English advance was substantial and took the financial pressure off Hiss," said the American publisher with whom Hiss and his wife, Priscilla, conferred about such a book a few days before Hiss was imprisoned.

"We were interested in his book and told him so," this publisher continued. "By this time, Hiss was strapped financially. As you may know, after he went to prison, Mrs. Hiss and their boy were in desperate circumstance until she landed a clerical job."

"WHEN HISS CAME out of prison he was dead broke. Within a few months, he brought us the first chapter of his book. We were frankly disappointed. Whether you like him or not, here is a brilliant, articulate man. But the writing was tense and tight. He was not getting his story over. We felt he had not yet made the adjustment from prison to secular life."

"After he rewrote the chapter, we felt the same way. Then his literary agent said very frankly that he was in desperate need of money to continue. But on the basis of what we had read, we did not feel justified in making an advance to him."

"It was then that the English firm of Calder got interested in the book, and advanced the money that gave him financial peace and leisure to write the volume."

KNOPE, HISS's American publisher, does not see how the book can fail to be a best seller. Inevitably, it will reactivate the bitter controversy caused by the arrest of Hiss, once an assistant to an Assistant Secretary of State, his trial and conviction.

Those who were convinced of his guilt by the trial evidence, as was this reporter who covered both Hiss trials, will read it to see what evidence this man can now produce that was not offered at his trials.

THOSE WHO STILL think him innocent and the victim of a frameup and feel "such a nice boy" could not possibly do wrong, will read it to find support for their convictions. It is my experience that there is a larger weight of conservative than liberal opinion that finds Hiss incapable of crime because of his polished appearance and manner in the old days.

But if Hiss does hold a press conference on publication of his book, as his publisher has suggested, the reporters and public will find him greatly changed.

Just received a letter from John F. Noyes, manager of the Desert Air hotel at Rancho Mirage, which may give you a bit of a laugh, and will show to what extent some people will go in order to kill a good deed.

To begin with, some time ago I reported that Desert Air hotel had one considerable expense in the construction of litter receptacles and placed them at various points along highway 111 not far from the hotel.

Now that you have the background again, here is Noyes' letter:

"Just a little note to advise you that we have found it necessary to remove the litter receptacles that were placed along the highway near the Desert Air hotel property."

"The removal was made necessary because of the misuses of the receptacles. It was determined that neighborhood use (and I do not mean immediate neighbors but within a radius of three to four miles) accounted for about eighty-five per cent of the barrels capacity and fifteen per cent for the use intended. In conjunction with the foregoing, Mr. O. J. Foen who operates the Desert Disposal service advised me that he had received six cancellations for his service since the receptacles were placed."

"Not wishing to interfere with a very necessary business enterprise and because of the misuse, we found no alternative but to remove the litter disposal barrels."

Now that's something, isn't it? I still believe that the county board of supervisors or the California Highway patrol aware of the situation as it exists along that highway, through enforcement of the law and the placing of litter containers could keep the side of our roads clear of debris.

INTERVIEWED BRAVEN Dyer, Los Angeles Times sports writer and columnist, who is down here for the current golf tournament which ends with the pro-member play Jan. 24 and 25 and with the greatest professionals in the game playing for prize money Jan. 26 and 27.

It so happened that Ben Shearer was standing nearby and I called him into the little chat I was having. I knew that Shearer and the newspaperman, who has been coming to Palm Springs since 1926, were friends of long standing. So with in close proximity to Shearer I posed the following question:

"Braven, do you believe that Palm Springs should have a municipal golf course?"

Now Ben Shearer, who I also consider a very good friend, and yours truly have been in a friendly feud for years about the necessity of a municipal golf course, but I did not tell Braven which side each of us represented.

So quite bluntly, as all newspapermen are when a question is asked, declared that a municipal golf course was a must for this community.

"YOU KNOW," said Dyer, "that without the municipal golf course in Los Angeles we would never have the L. A. Open, one of the great golfing classics in the nation. I do not believe that the clubs here with full membership could handle an open tournament. I am definitely on the side of a municipal golf course although I do not know on which side either of you are with reference to a municipal golf course."

Ben almost let out a bellow 'cause he's agin it and I'm for it.

NEW YORK — Pat Boone, take the stand!

"Have you given up all ideas of preaching?" I asked the singing dreamboat from the south who's about to become a glamour boy in wicked Hollywood.

"Not at all!" The slickly-dressed but non-sideburned Tennessee and Texas crooner who occasionally steps into the pulpit of the Church of Christ admitted he's had many serious thoughts about being a minister.

"I don't think I'd preach full-time . . . but I don't plan on a singing career, either," he told me.

He had a textbook opened before him at his manager Jack Spina's office. A prospective Phil Spector, he's taking a leave from Columbia Jan. 28 to do RKO's "Bernadine."

"YOU'VE GOT A pretty little singing career now!" I said. He's just raked up his 5th gold record ("Don't Forget Me") and is a Godfrey show regular.

"If I can be a big-time singer, I'd enjoy it." He bent over and polished his neat brown loafers. "But I don't want to fight it . . . good records, bad records, frustrations, disappointments. Rather that that, I'd go into educational television."

"How do you feel about 'mixing' now?"

"I'm glad you asked that, because I'm not carrying on a crusade." He hoped I wouldn't misunderstand.

"MY CHURCH DOESN'T think because music's playing it's all right to put your arms around somebody else's wife. While I was in London on tour, I was in the Embassy Club New Year's eve. Ladies in funny hats asked me to dance."

"I'd politely say no."

Pat's wife Shirley, Red Foley's daughter, is already the mother of three—and they'll accompany him to Hollywood.

"Shirley's tried to show me how to waltz, but she gets to laughing. Still, you hear about people using dancing to combat juvenile delinquency. It's all very confusing." He shook his head.

"The same with preaching. Somebody like Perry Como, since he preaches to so many millions might influence more people than a preacher could. Being that kind of a singer would be wonderful."

It will be equally wonderful watching the career of Pat Boone. It's refreshing to meet somebody who doesn't know all the answers—and says he doesn't.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Danny Dayton, Dagmar's husband, narrowly escaped loss of an eye in a gas heater explosion at Dag's parents' home in Huntington, W.Va. Helming him was the fact his eyeball was touched by contact lenses . . . Eva Gabors setting up divorce residence in Nevada . . . NTC, who discovered Marie MacDonald when she lived in Yonkers and hired her for "The Congress of Beauty" at the World's Fair, is here promoting her book, "Blondes, Brunettes and Bullies."

The Gordon Macraes are expecting again . . . Judy Holiday saw Joan Collins' mink hat, dashed out and bought one . . . Bernard Baruch is out of the hospital and convalescing at home . . . Lucky Luciano, an ulcer victim, may ask to return here for medical treatment . . . Tom Ewell, opening in New Haven in "Tunnel of Love," got a congratulatory wire from Monroe . . . Busty Betty George, who used to date Bob Evans, switched to his brother Charlie.

ONE OF FERNANDO Lamas birthday gifts was a book, "Spanish Self-Taught" . . . Marlon Brando's rejecting cowboy scripts—won't do any shoot-em-up films . . . Sal Mineo signed with Epic Records to make rock 'n' roll disks . . . The Hotel Edison's Irwin Kramer sent a bottle of champagne to boxing champ Gene Fullmer's table; Fullmer returned it—he doesn't drink.

Billy Eckstein was asked to bring Sugar Ray Robinson to the stage at the Copa, but said, "No—after all, I didn't get in the ring for him" . . . Anita Ekberg, an unknown not long ago, has four films playing in the B-way area.

EARL'S PEARLS . . . Women may be smart, as people say, but we doubt if one ever made a fool out of a man without a little cooperation.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Children are natural mimics. They act like their parents, despite every effort to teach them good manners."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Too often, notes Al Hibbler, the modern housewife leaves nothing unsaid and everything undone.

The most annoying thing about suburban trains that are always late, complains Vaughn Monroe, is that some mornings they aren't . . . That's earl, brother.

QUOTES By UNITED PRESS

LONDON — British Prime Minister Anthony Eden in denying that his government was in collusion with Israel in the attack on Egypt:

"There was no foreknowledge that Israel would attack Egypt. But . . . there was . . . a risk of it, and in the event of a risk certain discussions took place, as I think was absolutely right."

BERLIN — The newspaper Der Tag, quoting Soviet Communist Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev in a talk before a meeting of rebellious university students at Moscow:

"If you do not like the way we do things, then go to work in the factories and we will replace you with others in the universities."

Entry Deadline For County Fair Set for Jan. 25

Exhibitors planning to enter the Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival are reminded that the deadline for entries in Jan. 25, 1957.

Entry blanks must be mailed to the Riverside County fairgrounds at Indio on or before that date, accompanied by any required entry fee.

FAIR OFFICIALS ask that all entries be filled out clearly and completely, since lack of information may disqualify the exhibit or cause delay in issuing the award check.

Although the nine-day fair and festival does not officially open to the public until Feb. 16, plans have been made to judge exhibits except those in the Junior Livestock Department, on the previous day.

Reason for this, according to Fair Manager Robert Fullenwider, is to eliminate judging problems that usually arise after the gates are open to the public.

IN ADDITION, this year the fairgrounds will be open on the evening of Feb. 15 for the press and some public use to acquaint scores of workers with their assignments.

Early reports indicate that a record number of entries will be shown at the Indio fairgrounds next month.

Rancho Mirage Incorporation Discussed Again By Chamber of Commerce, No Definite Decision Set

Residents of Rancho Mirage have not expressed much interest in the possibility of incorporation, Dan Callahan reported at the regular monthly meeting of the Rancho Mirage Chamber of Commerce, held at Desert Air Hotel.

If the majority of citizens wish to continue to explore the incorporation possibilities, the Chamber would do so as an organization, Callahan said.

PRESIDENT RALPH Dietz presided at the meeting, at which Lloyd Loveland of Indio, county planning commission member, and Supervisor George Berkey were featured speakers.

Berkey began the discussion with an outline of the many requirements that a community must have and must investigate before considering the formation of a corporation.

He then touched on the road problems of Riverside County and especially those of the Coachella Valley in the proposed rerouting of Highway 111. He suggested that the Chambers of Commerce form a road committee for the sole purpose of keeping up with such changes.

LOVELAND STRESSED the importance of the detailed work that the Planning Commission of any governing body must undertake. He said that the commission can do nothing without collecting the thoughts of the many people in the communities which they serve and that a member of the planning commission must be flexible so as to be able to conform with and cope with the many changes in a fast growing area.

He further stated that residents should utilize the flood control lands in the Valley, that if they give up their spreading grounds to development, there would be even greater hazards of flooding during heavy rains than recently experienced. A water conservation committee of the Chamber of Commerce would help greatly in understanding this problem, he said.

THE QUESTION of many departments of Riverside County being understaffed was brought to the attention of Berkey, and he said that a salary survey has already been ordered so as to try and make the pay rate of county employees more attractive, thus staffing those offices with a high type of employee.

The subject of public parks, picnic grounds and public meeting places was covered by Loveland when he said that if enough requests were made for the county to provide such places, the matter would be taken up with the Board of Supervisors and that very possibly favorable action could be brought out on the subject.

FIRE PROTECTION was another matter discussed, with some of the members referring to the two bad fires in the Cathedral City and Tamarisk areas recently. Loveland and Berkey said that the only way in which action can be taken on such problems is for the citizens to voice their opinions to the Board of Supervisors or to the county departments which handle such questions.

They assured the group that their job can only be made easier if they know and understand what the people need and that no one is wasting time with an honest discussion of these subjects.

Geiss Hearing Set for Jan. 24

RIVERSIDE — A preliminary hearing has been scheduled Jan. 24 for Paul Geiss, 28, who is charged with the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Jacqueline Pace, 27-year-old babysitter.

Geiss was arraigned Tuesday and when asked by Municipal Judge Elwood Rich if he wanted to admit the slaying last Friday, he replied, "I guess so, sir."

Police Rodeo, Date Festival Tops in Events

Dogs, rodeos, dolls and dates ... catfish, carrots and camellias ... tomatoes, gliders and snow.

No place but Southern California could offer such an array of spectator events, as listed in the February calendar issued today by the All-Year Club, the community organization for building the half-billion dollar tourist business for the area.

The National Date Festival combined with the Riverside County Fair will be held Feb. 16-24 at Indio in an Arabian atmosphere including Arabian Nights Pageant, Slave Girl Mart and daily camel races.

NILAND ("NILE-LAND") in the Imperial Valley goes Egyptian, because of its similarity to the Nile, and crowns a Queen Cleopatra for the Tomato Festival Feb. 1-3, celebrating its tomato harvest. A derby finds the World's Champion Tomato Packer.

Also in the Imperial, Holtville celebrates its crop with the Carrot Carnival Feb. 8-10. There will be a parade of carrot floats, contest of carrot recipes and free iced carrot sticks for all.

Temple City makes its annual Camellia Festival, Feb. 22-24 uniquely a children's feature. Fresh camellia floats in the parade on the 23rd are limited to 4 by 6 feet and must be built and propelled by children. Camellia King and Queen are chosen from the first school grade.

OVER 400 VARIETIES of the flower from all over the Southwest will be exhibited at the San Diego Camellia Show in Balboa Park, Feb. 16-17.

Between 30 and 35 of the west's glider pilots compete in the strong thermal currents over the Torrey Pines bluffs at San Diego in the Pacific Coast Midwinter Soaring Championships Feb. 23-24.

Big Bear Lake holds the Junior Winter Carnival Cup Race for all ages of ski contestants Feb. 16-17 at Snow Summit and the Lynn Chair Lift. The Snow Ball and crowning of the Snow Queen have been set tentatively for Feb. 9.

THE PERPETUAL Catfish and Bass Derby is underway at Blythe, with monthly prizes for the best fish taken from the Colorado or lagoon or canal watered by the river.

The southwest Obedience Club holds its show Feb. 3 and the Southern California Boxer Club its 17th annual specialty show Feb. 10, both at the Glendale National Armory.

Palm Springs holds its 17th annual rodeo, RCA approved, at the polo grounds Feb. 2-3.

REALTOR AND DEVELOPER Terry Ray and his wife, Helen, are shown above being greeted by Ernie Dunlevie when they arrived at Palm Springs Airport after a 10,000-mile trip by air to Mexico. The Rays covered more mileage than most tourists because of their extensive inspection of noted Mexican golf courses and many examples of modern Aztec-type architecture. Inspection was for the purpose of garnering construction ideas for the golf course, luxury resort hotel and homes that will be part of Ray's and Dunlevie's new desert resort community, Bermuda Dunes. Building on a 2,650-acre site just east of Palm Springs, the community expects a future population of 10,000 people.

Liberace Pleasing Chi Chi Audiences with Showmanship

By HILLY CRAWFORD
Chi Chi's big new Starlite Room is none too big to hold the crowds that are turning out to hear (and see) Liberace, who is currently headlining the show at that popular night spot.

The piano-playing star is billed as "Mr. Showmanship" and the appellation is well-deserved as his whole act is good theatre. Those who know Liberace from television, find that black and white doesn't do justice to the colorful star, whose frequent changes of costume are elaborate. He appears in evening outfit with tails... ranging from sequin trim, and shimmering metallic threaded cloth, to an amazing Cuban flounced shirt, and closing with the spectacular all white satin suit.

The stage setting, too, is good theatre, with the usual candelabra glowing on the glass-topped grand piano, sharing interest with the flashing hands of this great piano player.

His "September Song" is especially enchanting, and the double time arrangement of "Tico Tico," which already has a fast tempo, is nothing short of amazing. Outstanding is his "Blue Danube" from "The Great Waltz." Liberace obviously loves the spotlight and Palm Springs audiences love him and this established a rapport which finds the star being very generous in his response to request numbers. A real surprise is his dancing.

Brother George has a suit or two that will surprise you too and plays a solo number on his violin, and adds to the show, particularly in the "Real George" number which is a souvenir of their Cuban tour.

Liberace, who is in his 25th year in the show business, having started out with Fanchon and Marco when he was only 11, is happily announcing that he will make his first appearance on Broadway when he will open on April 20 at the Palace, mecca of all entertainers.

A shapely little redhead Estelle Sloan sings and dances and adds to the show. Her dance to the "Syncopated Clock" is particularly good and she also does an abstract rhythm without music and a wedding dance from Israel. It's a great show and I would like to borrow that title of Mr. Showmanship to apply to Irwin Schuman who is bringing such wonderful shows to Palm Springs.

Victor Jory To Star at Playhouse

Star of stage, screen, radio and television, Victor Jory will be co-starred with Marrian Walters in the second production of the Palm Springs Playhouse, opening Tuesday evening, January 22. They will appear in "Goodbye Again," comedy by Allan Scott and George Haight.

Noreen Nash will play an important role in the production, the cast of which will include Tim O'Connor, Sidney Brees and Rita Lee. Michael Ferrall will direct the comedy.

"Goodbye Again" concerns an author who runs into complications while on a lecture tour when he meets a former girl friend who has been a character in one of his novels. His romantic affairs are further complicated when his secretary falls in love with him.

"Goodbye Again" was originally presented on Broadway some years ago, with the late Osgood Perkins starred and more recently revived in New York, with Donald Cook in the same role.

Roger's initial production, "A Roomful of Roses," will conclude a week's engagement on Sunday evening, January 20. The theater, which is sponsored by the Palm Springs Playhouse Guild, will be dark each Monday night during the season of 14 plays.

Sorority Gets Ready for Regional Meet

Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Zeta Kappa Chapter, held its regular meeting in the office of Hazel Cannon in Palm Desert last Thursday evening. Members busied themselves making decorations for the forthcoming San-Riv-Or Regional Council meeting to be held here at the Desert Inn on January 20.

Mrs. LaVaun Belt, member of the Pomona Chapter was a guest at the meeting and accepted an invitation to affiliate with the local chapter.

$25,000 Contest Winner Addresses Local Club

Thirty-one members of the Palm Spring's Doe$ and Buck$ Contest Club attended a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker of Rancho Mirage and listened attentively as Mrs. Nita Parks, winner of $25,000 in a recent contest, outlined her formula for successful contesting.

Mrs. Parks, recipient of many other cash and merchandising awards, read two chapters from her forthcoming book "How to Win a Fortune". The Saturday Evening Post of January 26 will carry a complete article covering her unusual career as a home-maker, contestant, lecturer, and author.

Accompanying Mrs. Parks from Los Angeles and Pasadena were Mrs. Opal Broderson, Mrs. Margaret Parks and Mrs. Audrey Earle, who comprised a panel of experts and answered questions of members.

A highlight of the evening was the announcement by Mrs. Broderson that Mrs. Robin Arnold, wife of Palm Springs attorney Thurman Arnold Jr., had won a mink stole in the recent national Playtex contest. Mrs. Arnold after an initial investigation by the sponsor's representative, had been waiting several weeks to learn what her prize would be. The disclosure at the meeting, which she attended, was a complete and satisfying surprise to her.

After adjournment, the four guests and several of the members drove to the home of Mrs. Sylvie Siegel, president of the Palm Springs club, where they enjoyed a late snack and chatted far into the morning.

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

NEW YORK — Mickey Mantle is dashing around the country picking up innumerable awards this winter and it should come as no secret that he probably will strap on the Hickok $10,000 gold and diamond belt Monday night as the pro athlete of the year.

Nothing has been announced on this officially, but Mantle's chief opposition for the Rochester award must be teammate Don Larsen, the World Series no-hitter, and heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson. But they still must stand as a couple of one-shots.

And one-shot don't win this costly bauble.

The voting in the past has proved as much. Remember when Jack Fleck upset Ben Hogan in the U. S. Open? Well, Fleck received reams of publicity. Yet when the votes were counted, Otto Graham had the gimcrack fastened around his waist.

THE MONTHLY AWARD winners in the Hickok polls were basketballers Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks and Paul Arizin of the Philadelphia Warriors, Jockey Eddie Arcaro, golfer Jackie Burke, Dale Long of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Mantle, Sal Maglie of the New York Giants, Don Newcombe of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Larsen, Patterson and Frank Gifford of the New York football Giants.

Baseball players seem to have an edge in polls of this sort, primarily because they hold the headlines for such a long length of time.

In the six years of this award, diamond dandies have taken it three times. Phil Rizzuto won it in 1950; Allie Reynolds in 1951, and Willie Mays when the Say Hey Kid had his fabulous season in 1954.

THE THREE OTHER WINNERS were Ben Hogan 1953, Rocky Marciano 1952, and Graham 1955.

You could also make a case this year for Johnny Ogon, who set a new all-time jockey record for total victories, or two-time national riding champion Willie Harlick. But the signs are that they'll be burned along with all the other candidates as Mantle emerges supreme.

Larsen's no-hitter, the first in World Series history, was a tremendous performance. And Patterson's win over Archie Moore was impressive but, as they say on the fight beat, who else did he beat?

Mantle had them talking throughout the entire baseball season. His efforts had to be the year's best performance. And if he doesn't get the Hickok belt, the kid from Oklahoma "wuz robbed."

American Loop Ups Night Games

CHICAGO — A record high of 237 night games will be played in the American League during the 1957 season, continuing the trend toward more after-dark activity.

The Baltimore Orioles, who played 42 night games last season, are the 1957 airtight champions.

The Orioles, who enjoyed a fairly successful 1957 season at the gate despite their lowly finish in the A. L. race will play 47 games after dark in 1957, while the Kansas City Athletics, who played 44 last year, are down for 43 in 1957 for second place, according to the schedule released today by league headquarters.

The Washington Senators, last year's after dark champions with 45 games, are scheduled for 38 in 1957.

The Orioles and Senators open the season in Washington April 15, one day sooner than the others. The season opened on April 17 last year and closed on Sept. 30. The 1957 season closes one day sooner.

Basketball Race Tightens in RCL With Four Tied

With four teams tied with a 3-1 record and 10 games still to go, all eight teams still have a mathematical chance for the 1957 crown with the seventh team only two games out of the top spot.

Beaumont, Banning, Elsinore and San Jacinto are wrapped up in the four-way tie for first. Two of these teams tomorrow night, Banning and San Jacinto meeting, each hoping to jar the other out of the lead. Unless more startling upsets occur, the winner will be tied with Beaumont and Elsinore for top place Friday night. Elsinore goes to seventh place Coachella (1-3) and Banning to last place Perris (0-4).

Palm Springs high has a chance to climb to the head of the second division. The Indians will host Hemet (2-2). They are now 1-3.

Mantle Says '57 Contract Still Unsettled

But is Expected to Sign for Between $45,000 and $50,000

(By UNITED PRESS)

Mickey Mantle, 1956 triple crown batting champion, arrived in New York Wednesday for what he termed "a preliminary meeting" with Lee MacPhail, the Yankees' director of player personnel. The Oklahoman said "nothing much" came out of the contract talks with MacPhail, who was sitting in for vacationing General Manager George Weiss.

Mantle said he plans to leave New York for Chicago Friday. During his weekend visit to the Windy City he plans to attend a sports dinner at which Weiss and Yankee Manager Casey Stengel also will be honored guests.

IT WAS LEARNED Mantle was offered a $5,000 increase over his reported 1956 salary of $32,500 in his initial contract.

And, although it may take time, the Oklahoman kid and Weiss eventually are expected to settle in the $45,000-$50,000 range.

Meanwhile, the Milwaukee Braves continued to line up their biggest stars for the 1957 National League push with the announced signing of third baseman Eddie Mathews.

The Californian hit 37 homers and had 95 runs-batted-in during 1956, but his batting average slipped from .289 to .272.

Outfield Jackie Jensen, the last Red Sox player to come to terms last year, was the first to sign his 1957 contract with the Boston club. The Red Sox also announced the signing of veteran southpaw Mel Parnell and rookie outfield Marty Keough.

THE BROOKLYN DODGERS signed infielders Randy Jackson and Charlie Neal, bringing to 22 the number of players under contract for the coming season, while outfielder Wally Moon became the 30th member of the St. Louis Cardinals to sign on the dotted line.

Other signings included pitcher Connie Johnson, Baltimore Orioles; infielder Tom Carroll, catcher John Blanchard and outfielder Marion Zepfel, Yankees; pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, New York Giants; catcher Mack Burk and pitcher Jack Meyer, Philadelphia Phillies.

Laurie's, Faculty Tied in League

Laurie's Steak Ranch and Faculty Volleyball teams continued their deadlock in the City Recreation Department sponsored Volleyball league with identical 13-3 records as result of games played this week, Howard Haddock, City Recreation superintendent said today.

Faculty won two from Palm Desert Tuesday night, 21-11 and 21-17 and Laurie's won two from the Blue Sox, 21-14 and 21-17. The White Sox picked up a pair by default from the Jaycees.

$3 Million Grid Stadium for Navy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Construction is expected to start in mid-March on a new $3 million football stadium at the U.S. Naval Academy, it was announced today.

Adm. William Smedberg III, Academy superintendent, said the double-decked, 31,000 seat stadium would be known as "Navy and Marine Corps Stadium" and would replace 16,000 seat Thompson Field as the site of Navy's home football games.

New Speed Record
CORAL GABLES, Fla. — Viking Victory, a four-year-old son of Coaltown and the 13 to 1 pick in the fifth race at Tropical Park Wednesday set a world record of 1:03 flat for five and one-half furlongs, bettering the old mark of 1:03 1-5 established by Nance's Ace, also at Tropical, in 1944 and equaled by Bold Bazooka at Hollywood Park in 1955.

Souchak 8 to 1 To Repeat in Caliente Open

Favored to Finish First Over Stellar Field of Top Pros

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico. — Mike Souchak, an 8-1 favorite in the bookie betting, tees off in defense of his title in the $15,000 Caliente Open Golf Tournament, today in the last PGA co-sponsored tournament to allow wagering.

In this town, where gambling of this type is legalized, the long-hitting Souchak was rated ahead of such well-known money-winners as Jackie Burke, the PGA and Masters champion; Dow Finsterwald, the second-leading cash collector of 1956; Doug Ford, winner of the recent rich Los Angeles Open and the Panama City, Panama, titles; and Jay Hebert, who captured the Bing Crosby pro championship.

JUST ABOUT ALL the big names of the current touring brigade, with the exception of National Open champion Dr. Cary Middlecoff, are on hand to battle for the top prize on the Tijuana Country Club course.

Souchak not only is the favorite to win the tournament, but he has been installed as a 10-1 shot to shoot this best score the opening day.

Burke, Herbert and some of the others in the fine field are playing under a mild protest. They are opposed to open gambling on golf tournaments.

"There is too much of a chance for a scandal in the game of golf to take this kind of a chance," Burke said. "In the future we will have a clause in our contracts that will stop this type of bookie betting and odds-making."

Legislators Get Bill to Clean Up Boxing in State

SACRAMENTO — A wholesale cleanup of boxing has been proposed by Assemblyman Frank G. Bonelli R-Huntington Park.

Bonelli introduced a series of bills in the assembly Wednesday to appoint a "czar" over the sport; remove wrestling from state control, give the Athletic Commission power to fine boxers, managers or promoters up to $1,000 and tax live televised and broadcast fights 5 per cent to finance the commission's and director's activities.

MOUNTED POLICE Rescue Unit, an organization of fifty business and professional men, is a team that is recognized throughout the Southland as the most highly trained, efficient unit of its kind. Top photo shows the trailer, which carries rescue equipment and medical supplies and is kept constantly supplied. Purchase of these supplies is made possible through proceeds of the Palm Springs Mounted Police Rodeo. Mounted Police Rated As One of Top Rescue Units In Southern California, Rodeo Feb. 2-3 Buys Gear

By FRED C. WIEGEL

Speedily dialing a single telephone number, the police dispatch clerk can set into motion one of the best equipped and most highly trained rescue units in Southern California—the Palm Springs Mounted Police.

Comprised of business and professional men, who give freely of their time, the Mounted Police Rescue Unit has saved the lives of scores of persons who have been lost or injured in the desert or in the Santa Rosa and San Jacinto foothills.

THE MOUNTED Police was formed eight years ago under the guidance of Chief of Police August G. Kettmann, and each member is a special officer of the Palm Springs police department.

They maintain their own horses and equipment, and are ready to turn out within minutes for any emergency. Rescue equipment, mobile trailer, a truck, a Volkswagen ambulance, a mule, and a complete line of medical supplies make up the inventory of the organization.

THROUGH FUNDS received from the annual Rodeo, to be held this year on Feb. 2 and 3, the organization keeps up a complete medical supply, which is constantly being improved and stocked for top efficiency of the unit.

Each year the Palm Springs Mounted Police Rescue Unit is called on at least once, most of the time much more often than that, to rescue a person lost in the hazardous and dangerous mountains or in the desert.

LAST YEAR THE unit proved itself outstanding in several instances, but far ahead in value was the part its members played in the rescue of a small child who became lost and was the subject of an all night search in the history of the Village.

It was early in the evening in March, 1956, when Capt. Kenny Paul was notified to put the Mounted Police rescue unit into action—a small child had wandered off into the desert.

Within half an hour, forty members of the Mounted Police, plus regular officers of the police department, on horseback and on foot, were searching the desert for the little girl. The mobile rescue trailer and truck were pressed into service to supply hot coffee for the searchers, and to offer medical supplies if they were needed.

THE SEARCH went on into the night, with the men tracking and re-tracking the tiny footprints from her home out into the desert, and then losing them. From this point the searchers fanned out to cover every direction, some going into the thickly populated homes in Section 14, where cesspools and thickly grown brush were almost too accessible to a small child.

Early in the morning, Palm Springs was hit by a 65-mile-an-hour wind, which whipped sand

Here is a new twist! At the first Bingo game of the season anyone with a completed row will call out "Bing Crosby" instead of the "staid old word—Bingo." Fern Wager, Lee Parkus and Jack Hackett are making excellent progress with arrangements for this activity.

Blue Skies had a visit from one of movieland's "greats" this Sunday with Anthony Quinn visiting Lew Kerner.

MRS. DON BLEITZ appeared in a photograph of Southland Matrons inspired by the forthcoming Sixth Annual Ruby Ball, with a Ball Fantastique Theme on the front page of the Women's Society Section of a Los Angeles newspaper Sunday. County Supervisors Continue Purchasing Agent Squabble

The Board of supervisors rescinded two ordinances this week which would have taken from County Administrative Officer Clay Begole the additional title of purchasing agent, done away with the position of chief assistant purchasing agent, and set up the position of purchasing agent as head of the purchasing department.

County Counsel Ray T. Sullivan, Jr. reiterated a previous statement that the appointment on Dec. 17 of Mrs. Jessie Adams, former assistant purchasing agent, to the position of purchasing agent, had no force or effect because at the time the ordinance creating the position had not become effective.

"I WAS NOT in agreement with the action the board took," said Supervisor George Berkeley. "I still feel that the purchasing department should be under the general administration of the administrative officer, though I've no quarrel with giving the title of purchasing agent to the person fulfilling that function. I think we should back up and do this right and end up with the best applicant we can possibly get. I'm not ruling out Mrs. McAdams as a candidate, but her appointment was by a hasty and ill considered move."

The vote on Mrs. McAdams appointment was three to one with Berkeley voting against it and Supervisor Paul Anderson absent. The vote for it was by Supervisors Fred McCall and William Jones and Supervisor Roman Warren who has since been replaced by Supervisor Curtis Chamberlain.

SULLIVAN POINTED out that the general law under which this county was organized allows the administrative officer supervisors, only to the extent that it is expressly given to him by the supervisors. He said also that under the general law heads of some county departments are employees rather than officers and said he believes that purchasing agent is such a department head.

Supervisor Jones said that al-

Full Dress Not Required for Kill

WINDSOR, England — A spokesman for the renowned Grenadier Guards today denied a guards captain donned his full dress uniform to kill a mad bullock.

Capt. J. R. S. Besley just happened to be wearing full dress, complete with sword and spurs, at the time, the spokesman said.

The bullock was killed by two rifle shots fired by another officer.

County Adopts New Employee Classification, Studies Pay

A new employee classification plan was adopted by the county board of supervisors this week as recommended by Personnel Director Donald Spencer.

The plan is that prepared by Kroeger & Associates as a basis for a proper personnel plan, and amended somewhat after conferences between that firm and the personnel director.

Spencer said that each employee in the county will be allocated a classification at the same monthly figure he now receives or in some cases slightly more. He said salaries now higher than the fifth step provision for the classification will remain as they are until caught up with by further over-all increases as they may be made. He said he will recommend changes as the need arises from time to time.

The supervisors instructed Spencer to conclude a salary study as soon as possible so that it will be ready in time for consideration for the next fiscal year which commences the first of July. Spencer set March 18 as a goal for completion.

CHP Advises Use of Safety Belts

Use an approved seat belt properly installed if you want to lessen the possibility of serious injury in a traffic collision, warns the California Highway Patrol.

"The Patrol is continually testing various seat belts and has approved 65 different makes to date for sale in California," declared Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell today. "Installation directions are also checked and should be followed strictly to get full benefit from any approved seat belt."

"Studies by organizations such as the Automobile Crash Injury

Research Group at Cornell University Medical College have shown the value of seat belts in reducing or eliminating injuries in traffic accidents," Caldwell stated. "The Patrol has successfully been using seat belts since 1953 and all new cars purchased by the State of California are equipped with belts."

"We strongly advise passengers as well as drivers use available seat belts whenever the car they are in is in motion," Caldwell continued. "Seat belts must be approved, installed properly and in use of they are to furnish the utmost in safety and protection."

Ohrbach Heads Benefit Ball for Italy Boys Town

Nathan M. Ohrbach of Palm Springs and Beverly Hills, chairman of the Board of Ohrbach's, Inc., has been named general chairman of the annual benefit ball for the Boys' Town of Italy, it was announced in New York today at the agency's national headquarters.

Ohrbach was one of the first merchants to import Italian products on a large scale for sale in this country.

On his frequent trips to Italy, immediately following World War II, Mr. Ohrbach witnessed the plight of the thousands upon thousands of vagrant Italian orphans. Brought to his attention was the Boys' Towns of Italy program, founded by an Irish priest long resident of Italy, Monsignor John Patrick Carroll-Abbing.

Under the guidance and leadership of Monsignor Carroll-Abbing, the Boys' Towns of Italy project has given assistance to more than 25,000 children in its eight boys' towns, one girls' town and 25 day nurseries. These centers were built entirely through American American voluntary contributions.

Ohrbach is planning an early trip to Rome to visit with Monsignor Carroll-Abbing and inspect the site and the progress of the work on the ninth boys' town. His observations will be reported by him to the more than 1500 guests who will be gathered at the benefit dance in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria on April 10.

Auto License Renewal Move At Slower Pace

Auto registration renewals for 1957 are running almost 50 per cent behind those of last year, bringing the threat of a last minute rush that could tax State Department of Motor Vehicles facilities to the limit and cause untold inconvenience to the motoring public.

This was the outlook picture in Sacramento today by Motor Vehicles Director Paul Mason at the end of the sixth day of the current renewal period, when a total of only 340,000 motorists had paid their new year fees and received their 1957 license plate stickers.

ON THE SAME day last year, Mason said, registrations totaled 1,080,000, or double the figure for this year.

"This present slow rate of renewals spells trouble for vehicle owners," Mason reminded. "It could mean that the last days of the renewal period could be unnecessarily burdensome, with long lines of motorists seeking their 1957 stickers in time to beat the deadline of Feb. 4, to escape the high penalties provided by law."
